Plot Points

Data,

Humanities, and

Transformation

Thursday, March 31 - Friday, April 1, 2022

The Virginia Humanities Conference at VCU will address the transformational possibilities at the intersection of arts and humanities, texts and data, and the digital and computational sciences. When looking for equitable solutions to our most critical social issues, humanities and the arts interact with collective data to lead to more just choices.

Awash in data, humanities buoys hope.
